IN THE MEANTIME, WE DON'T GET ROADS

The theory of the Collier-Burns act seems sound. It implies the usual run-of-the-mill supervisor in California is not an engineer and does not know how to build roads. Merely being elected to a board of supervisors does not qualify a man as a highway engineer.

Therefore, argues, the Collier-Burns act, let's hire road commissioners in these counties and give them more money to work with and see what can be done.

But what has happened in many of California's counties, including Nevada?

The general practice has been either the hiring of a figurehead for a road engineer or a general resistance to the engineer or commissioner appointed by supervisors who do not want any change, even one required by law.

California supervisors, long accustomed to directing road construction and repairs, principally the latter, had been in a favorable position to win friends and influence voters by scattering the right amounts of oil and gravel in the right holes in the roads. Naturally they were unwilling to see that advantage taken from them.

Nevada county and particularly the residents along the Ridge road between the state forestry office and Alta Hill graphically portrays the situation today. The newly completed $15,000 road repair project on the eastern end of that stretch of highway is a disgrace as a piece of road construction. Only a month after the completion of the project, more than a year in accomplishment, the roadbed is full of chuck holes and in a couple of places the road bed collapsed during the heavy rains of recent days.

Joe O'Connor is the road commissioner but anyone cognizant of county affairs, knows he is only a figurehead and follows out the instructions of the board of supervisors. If O'Connor is only to be the whipping boy of county politics, it is not fair to him or to the taxpayers and highway users of Nevada county to retain him in the post. If our supervisors really want a progressive road construction program, let's have the road commissioner's office function the way it should.

On the other hand, if it is a political stratagem to maintain the old political power that attends judicious road repairing, the taxpayers and highway users are suffering for it. And eventually the state of California will step into the picture completely, take road construction and maintenance from the county, and county supervisors will wind up being relegated to the front porch rocking chairs, shorn of any duties beyond administering county funds.

SHALL WE APPEASE?

The visit of Prime Minister Attlee to America coming swiftly on the heels of President Truman's threat to use the A-bomb in Korea points up the intense concern felt in Europe over any move that might lead to a third World War.

This concern is not hard to understand. The people of Europe are desperately sick of war. Hardly a city or town over there can be found where the evidence of war does not still linger in one form or another. The very severity of economic conditions is in itself a reminder of the great struggle.

Add to this fact that Europe is utterly defenseless against an attack from Russia. John McCloy, America's occupation chief in Germany, has said that the Soviets have enough troops in Eastern Germany right now to push to the Rhine at any time they choose to do so. There is also serious doubt that the Western Europeans would make any resistance at all to an invasion from the east.

In view of this situation it is not surprising that reports from London say that Attlee will press for "peace at any price". If this proves correct, should we go along with it? In other words, should we appease the Communists in order to avoid a possible big war at this time?

The history of the past two or three decades affords abundant evidence that appeasement leads only to further appeasement or eventually to the war it was supposed to avoid. There is no reason to believe that the results would be any different this time.

If we can make an honorable settlement with Red China we will be only too glad to do so. But to knuckle down to a display of brute force would weaken our moral strength to resist and would virtually destroy the effectiveness of the United Nations in world afairs.

"Peace at any price" would not give us peace nor is the price one which the democratic world can afford to pay.

Every year the football season offers proof that no team however great, is unbeatable. The season just closing (it's all over except for the bowl games) has been no exception.

No doubt the prize example of this was the stunning upset of the Army by the Navy last Saturday. The Cadets with not a defeat against them in nearly 30 games and the Middies with hardly more than two or three victories in the same number of contests were just about as unequal —theoretically—as anyone could imagine. But when the game was played the underdog Navy dominated the contest from start to finish.

There's an old saying that the team that won't be beaten can't be beaten. The Navy team proved it beyond doubt.

The same thing applies in the lives of individuals. The man who will not quit regardless of the odds against him is the man who really succeeds and the man who helps make the world a better place.

CALIFORNIA TAXES CONTINUE UPWARD SPIRAL PAST YEAR

State and local taxes collected in California in the fiscal year ending July 1, totalled $1,661,159,412—an increase of 148 percent over the fiscal year 1940-41 and nearly seven percent over the 1948-49 fiscal year. This was revealed by Adrien Falk, president of the California State Chamber of Commerce. Total collection of federal, state and local taxes in the last fiscal year were $4,455,872,808. This was below the preceding year's $4,513,966,009, due to the reduction in individual and corporation income taxes during the last fiscal year.

The state government collected $946,159,412 in the 1949-50 fiscal year, according to the state chamber study. This was an increase of 6.8 percent over the 1948-49 collections, and a rise of 162 percent over collections of state taxes in 1940-41. Included in state collections were sales, motor fuel, unemployment insurance, beverage, personal income and unemployment compensation, disability taxes, plus horse racing revenues, motor vehicle fees, etc. State taxes collected were largely levies upon earnings and spending.

County and city governments, and school and special districts collected $715,000,000 in property taxes in the 1949-50 fiscal year, according to state chamber estimate on a basis of actual levies. This was an increase of 6.4 percent over 1948-49 collections, and a jump of 131.6 percent over 1940-41 collections. Local tax receipts listed represent property taxes only, and do not include city sales and business taxes. Local increases listed represent larger collection through property taxe, instead of the special fees, sales taxes, etc., of state collections, in which are reflected California's overall population and business growth.

State tax collections in the 1949-50 fiscal year included: Gasoline tax, $13,225,291; sales tax, $321,673,936; unemployment insurance $128,23,956; insurance tax $23,285,220; inheritance tax, $18,651,686; motor vehicle fees, $47,651,550; bank and corporation taxes, $74,545,772; horse racing revenue $14,855,275; liquor tax, $12,545,654; beverage tax $3,599,601; truck tax, $7,700,449.

County tax collections were $215,000,000 in 1949-50, according to state chamber estimates, compared to $211,957,183 in 1948-49 and $96,052,253 in 1940-41. Municipal property tax collections were an estimated $165,000,000 in 1949-50, exclusive of any city sales or business taxes. Municipal collections of property tax was $156,725,784 in 1948-49, and $90,579,303 in 1940-41.

Including the San Francisco unified school district, taxes for school districts for the last fiscal year were an estimated $285,000,000, compared to $263,745,137 in 1948-49 and $104,237,631 in 1940-41. Special district tax collections rose to an estimated $50,000,000 from $39,761,053 in 1948-49, and $17,822,168 in 1940-41.

Federal tax collections in California in the last fiscal year were: Individual income, $1,504,863,379, corporation income, $593,415,693; social security $182,918,795; excise and other taxes $513,515,529.

TRADITION OF OUR SANTA CLAUS GOES BACK 1,600 YEARS

Santa Claus is our favorite Yuletide personage—an ever popular figure on millions of colorful Christmas cards—and the embodiment of a Christmas time legend dating back nearly 1,600 years.

Santa is the direct lineal descendant of a distinguished ancestor, Saint Nicholas the Wonder Worker, Bishop of Myra in Lycia, Asia Minor (modern Turkey) in the fourth century.

Two Greek manuscripts in the Zion Monastry in Myra describe Nicholas as the son of wealthy parents who aspired to a life of holiness after a pilgrimage to the Holy Land, during which a storm nearly wrecked his ship.

As Bishop of Myra, he is said to have worked many miracles, and became famed for his graciousness and kindness. One charming story concerns a father with three marriageable daughters. He had no money for the dowries essential in those days, and was tempted to sell his lovely daughters into slavery. But on three successive nights, a shadowy figure was seen tossing a bag of gold in the open window of the father's house. On the third night, the grateful father succeeded in catching the mysterious figure, who turned out to be St. Nicholas.

Diocletian and Maximilian jointly ruled the Roman Empire in those days, and St. Nicholas often opposed their treatment of the populace. Because of his courageous preaching and his refusal to worship the statues of the emperors, he spent many weeks in an imperial dungeon. He died on Dec. 6, about 343 A. D.

St. Nicholas is often represented holding the three purses of gold which he gave to the three marriageable maidens. In time pawnbrokers adopted St. Nicholas as their patron saint.

St. Nicholas, however, is also the patron saint of bankers, maidens, children, scholars, sailors and thieves.

The Saintly Bishop of Myra became famous throughout Europe after his death. Several writers claim more churches have been named for St. Nicholas than any of the apostles of Jesus. In Belgium alone, more than 100 churches pay him honor. He is the patron saint of Russia and Greece, and of the cities of Naples, Liege and Lucerne.

Gradually Europeans began to observe Dec. 6 the anniversary of his death, as St. Nicholas day, an occasion for the exchange of gifts. Children were told that the thin, ascetic, white bearded saint would arrive in the dead of night riding a beautiful white horse and carrying a basket of gifts for the good children and a bundle of birch rods with which to punish the naughty ones!

In some parts of Ecrope, people believe St. Nicholas is accompanied by a servant of spirit from the world of demons variously called Knecht Ruprecht of Jan or Pelznikle. He is a terror—a hideous, misshapen, punishing Nemesis robed in rough fur. The custom of having the Pelznikle come is stil l observed among the Pennsylvania Dutch.

About the time of the Reformation, the aura of holiness about St. Nicholas began to fade, and he bagan to turn into a legendary children's friend.

St. Nicholas was a favorite among the early Dutch settlers in New Amsterdam, and they named their first church in the New World in his honor. Gradually they Americanized his name from Saint Niklaas to Santa Nikalaus and then to Santa Klaus. Also, they transferred their gift giving to Christmas.

Dutch children customarily placed their wooden sabots before the fireplace to dry when they went to bed, and on Christmas morn they would find their sturdy shoes filled with all manner of delightful gifts from St. Nicholas. But other Colonial children, who quickly adopted the enchanting legend of Santa Claus, had no wooden shoes to lay out invitingly. So they hopefully hung stockings from the fire place mantels, thus beginning one of our most colorful present day Christmas customs.

By 1809, Washington Irving was describing Santa as a jolly Dutch citizen looking very much like Father Knickerbocker. But the famed novelist began to wonder how Santa, on a horse, could get to all the nation's rapidly increasing homes on Christmas Eve. So he introduced the familiar reindeer drawn sleigh—and Santa.

Thomas Nast, who had originated the GOP elephant, the Democratic Donkey and the Tammany Tiger for Harper's Illustrated Weekly, shortly after the Civil War first endowed Santa with the ermine trimmed red coat which is his trademark today.

The nation's first line of Christmas cards was published in Boston in 1875, and Santa appeared on dozens of cards within the next few years, carrying his picture to thousands of admirers.

Glassware items for brightening the table are needed by every hostess, and if there is one on the Christmas list for whom choice of a gift seems to be difficult displays in Nevada county stores may offer a suggestion.

Fine glass punch bowl sets, console sets, cake plates, sugar and cream sets, mayonnaise sets, plate set, relish trays, salt and pepper sets and many other items will be found on counters of Nevada county stores.

MANY TYPES OF BANKS ARE IN TOY DISPLAYS

Many types of banks are to be found in the 1950 toy displays.

A new one is in the form of a lamp post and a light flashes on each time a coin is deposited. The bank is designed to accomodate one cent pieces, nickles, dimes and quarters.

CHRISTMAS TREES INCREASE FIRE HAZARD

That Christmas tree you are planning to set up in your home could be a major fire hazard unless you take a few precautions, the National Board of Fire Underwriters warns.

Tests made by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., demonstrated that Christmas trees of average size are easily ignited and burn furiously. The blaze could easily start a dangerous fire in the home.

Engineers of the National Board offer the following suggestions for making your Christmas tree safe:

1. Choose a small tree. It will be less hazardous.
2. Wait until a few days before Christmas to set up your tree.
3. Keep the tree outdoors until ready to set it up.
4. Place the tree in the coolest part of the house.
5. If a radiator is near the tree, shut it off.
6. Do not use cotton or paper decorations unless they are flameproofed.
7. Do not place electric trains around the tree.
8. Do not use candles. Use electric lights instead.
9. Make certain wires are not frayed. Choose lighting sets bearing marking which indicates listing by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc:
10. Do not plug or unplug the lights beneath the tree.
11. Do not leave treee lights burning when no one is in the house.
12. If needles near the lights turn brown, change the location of the lights.
13. When needles start falling, take the tree down and discard it.

HANDKERCHIEF SETS ARE PRACTICAL GIFTS

Many men appreciate practical Christmas gifts which they can put into everyday use.

The accessories in the men's stores offer many Christmas gift suggestions, such as the boxed handkerchief sets.

Fine hemstitched lawn handkerchiefs, initialed imported Irish linens, handkerchiefs with decorated borders and designed especially to be worn in the pocket for show, all white imported Irish linens for the same purpose, colored handkerchiefs and even some with the cowboy motif are available.

Then there are the blue and red bandanas which many young fellows like to affect with their Western or knockabout clothes.

The Shell building in San Francisco is 29 stories high.

PLASTIC BROOMS ARE MADE FOR JUNIORS

Brooms with "straws" made of fine plastics are on this year's toy market.

The brooms are minatures of those which have been for sometime on the adult market. They come in a selection of colors.

And there is a tip from dealers. They say many women find use for the little brooms in cleaning hard to get at places, such as the space behind the refrigerator.

The bristles are designed to pick up lint, dust, dirt, dog hairs and similar things and sweep them away.

The new brooms can be cleaned with soap and water in a jiffy should the little housekeeper soil them in use. A few shakes and they are completely dry after washing.

COMFORTER IS GIFT

Gay gifts for a career girl's apartment or a bride's new home are plaid cotton covered wool comforters which double as bedspreads and may be teamed with round cornered blankets bound in matching plaids.

CHIEF JACKSON ASKS CAUTIOUS DRIVING IN HOLIDAY SEASON

An appeal for caution by motorists to help cut the December traffic toll was coupled today by J. J. Jackson, Chief of Police, with announcement that forces of law enforcement will be alert to make Nevada City streets as safe as possible for pedestrian and driver.

Jackson pointed out the National Safety Council figures show last December's traffic accident toll, on a nationwide basis, was 150 deaths greater than October's, the second most deadly month, and 430 deaths greater than July's, the month of heaviest highway traffic in terms of miles driven.

"A lot of factors enter into a traffic accident," said Jackson, "but December's unnatural death record is significant in that it coincides with the weather, wet and slippery streets and the obscuring of drivers' vision because of rain, fog and clouded wind shields.

"It is the belief of the traffic division that the physical factors found in winter driving tends to make it doubly dangerous for the driver who refuses to acknowledge the need for greater caution, less speed and more defensive driving.

"While a lucky driver may get away with all sirts of reckless and unthinking driving during the rest of the year, the physical factors present in winter driving are frequently the stumbling blocks which spell his downfall."

Jackson issued the following rules for driving during the Christmas shopping rush and the holiday season:

Double your caution. Drive as though the unexpected will happen.

Lower your speed. This is necessary in view of the dangers present on wet and slippery streets and the increased stopping distances arising from such conditions.

Always maintain your brakes, windshield wiper blades and lights in the best possible condition. About one out of every five fatal acidents in 1949 was attributed to some form of vision obscurement.

CHRISTMAS FIRES INJURE CHILDREN

Some American children may spend this Christmas in hospitals, suffering from painful and disfiguring purns.

That is a warning of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which points out that the Christmas season is one of the most dangerous in the year from the standpoint of fires.

Use of flammable decorations, careless smoking by adults near Christmas trees, and selection of toys which can cause injury are among the special hazards in the home at Christmas time, the National Board states.

The organization offered this check list for parents, to reduce the hazard to children during the Christmas holidays:

1. Do not dress children in flimsy, flammable costumes.
2. Do not use lighted candles at Christmas. Use electric lights instead.
3. When choosing new Christmas lights, look for marking which indicates listing by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.
4. Do not use cotton or paper decorations on your tree unless they are flame-proofed.
5. Look for the marking which indicates listing by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., on electrical toys, and supervise the children when they play with such toys.
6. Do not buy toys using gasoline, kerosene, or other flammable fluids. Be very careful in selecting toy chemical sets.
7. Remove all wrappings from the house soon after presents are opened.

CORDUROY SLACK SUIT IS SEASON LEADER

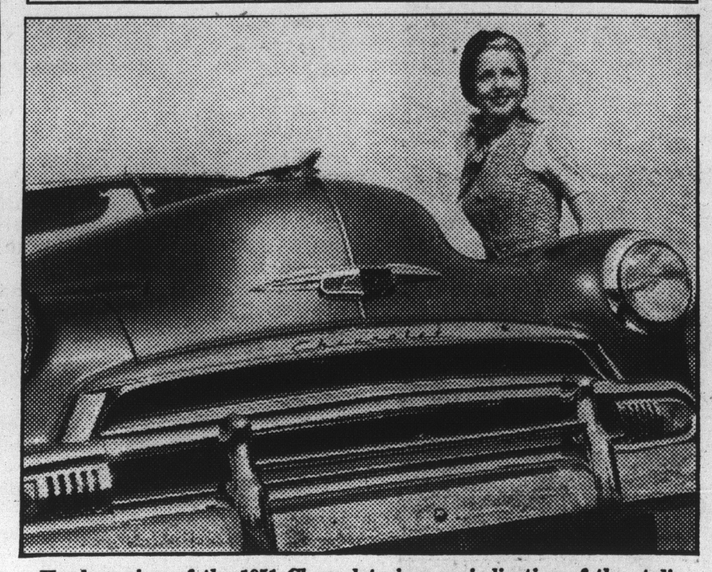
A slack suit of corduroy is suggested for Christmas giving to the young woman who likes her causal clothes, indoors and out.

This suit is tailored on easy going lines which are good looking as well as comfortable. The jacket is fashioned for fit, with a darted waist, two piece back and smart back slit. It is unlined.

The pleated slacks have waistline darts, side zipper closing and a two button waistband.

The colors are gray, green, bright red and rust brown.

Chevrolet's Smart New Grille



Head-on view of the 1951 Chevrolet gives an indication of the styling changes that benefit the new models. The radiator grille now consists of three massive horizontal bars, the lower two being extended farther across the width of the car to encircle parking lamps and air intake slots. Newly designed emblem, jet-craft hood ornament and redesigned bumper guards are additional features.

VERSATILE SMOCKS HAVE VARIED USES

A woman might like to receive as a Christmas gift one of the new versatile smocks.

These smocks, made of Indian head, are ideal for wearing during household chores, as maternity coats or as beach jackets.

They are in durable and sunfast material and have two large pockets highlighted by a bright floral applique. Turn back cuffs on new three quarter sleeves, button fly front and slightly flared back are other features.

The smocks are approximately 31 inches long. They can be had in such colors as blue and green.

UPHOLSTERED TOY FURNITURE ON MARKET

Toy upholstered furniture has appeared in Nevada county for this year's holiday trade. Time was when toy furniture was almost all constructed entirely of wood, with plain wood finish, but those days are gone.

The new upholstered furniture is realistically designed and has the appearance of adult pieces.

The little wooden red chair still is a popular toy item. Wood tables and chairs are wanted by many little girls for their playing at housekeeping.

SKI OUTFITS MAKE APPROPRIATE GIFTS

Nevada City is located within such easy reach of the snow country that ski outfits are considered to be appropriate for winter sports enthuiasts, junior and adult.

Skis and other skier's equipment are to be found in local shops. Apparel appropriate for trips into the snow regions offers a suggestion for appropriate Christmas gifts.

REPEATING GUN FIRES TABLE TENNIS BALL

An improved repeating sub machine gun, which shoots nothing more dangerous than six table tennis balls, is being offered in local toy shops.

The gun is similar to former models which were single shot, air propelled for weapons, except the new type fires six shots in rapid succession.

The table tennis balls leave the barrel with considerable velocity, but dealers say the projectiles are harmless to children, windows or even electric light bulbs.

Sugar represents 3.9 percent of the world's food supply.

JOLLY SANTA ON DOOR WILL EXTEND GREETING

Holiday guests are bound to be in a merrier mood if greeted by a jolly Santa claus at the front door.

This colorful Christmas doorway can be painted on sturdy white cardboard, and cut to fit the real door. If no one in the family is artistically inclined, you might cut out a Santa from a large printed crepe paper holiday tablecloth.

Lighting specialists suggest outlining of the front doorway with ropes of evergreen and spotlighting by means of a projector spotlight hidden in the shrubbery.

ADVICE IS GIVEN ON TOY BUYING BY GUIDANCE UNIT

A list of what the public should and should not do in connection with the purchase of toys for Christmas has been prepared by the Toy Guidance Council of New York.

Here are things against which the council warns:

Do not wait until the last minute to shop this year. Many of the best playthings, especially those of steel, plastic and rubber, will be in short supply.

Do not buy toys because they are what you liked as a child or want your child to like.

Do not buy babies' toys with toxic finishes, sharp edges, or small parts which can be broken or swallowed.

Do not deprive your child of wheel toys or skates when he is ready for them. Over protection is a form of selfishness which can lead to fear complexes.

Do not give electrically operated toys to children under sir.

Do not buy toys for eye appeal ated toys to children under six. for decoration.

Do not blame your child for being destructive without checking the kind of toys he destroys and the source of his destructiveness.

Do not buy your child toys which are too young for him. They will only bore him and he will soon lay them aside.

Do not bewilder your child with too many toys at Christmas and on his birthday. It is better to spread some through a whole year.

Do not hesitate to seek advice if you feel that you are not satisfying your child's need for good playtools.

Recommendations made by the council include the following:

Buy toys which are artistically designed.

Look at the toys and see that they are made safely.

Study a child's interests and abilities and select toys which stimulate and satisfy his individual needs.

Look for the approved label of Underwriters' Laboratory on all electrical goods.

Buy toys which function properly. Check parts carefully before leaving stores.

Buy toys which make demands on your child, both mentally and physically. Toys which present a challenge to his ingenuity, but are within his ability to meet, will help him develop more rapidly.

Surprise him occasionally with an unexpected toy. Such spontaneous acts create warm satisfaction for both you and your child.

Provide a balanced quantity of toys for outdoors and indoors.

GADGETS FOR THOSE WHO READ IN BED

It is fun to shop for a friend who likes to read. New among the gadgets to make life easier and more pleasant are handy lights for reading in bed.

With a clip arrangement they attach directly to the back cover of the book. The light they cast is soft but clear, illuminating the pages being read but tiny enough to avoid disturbing anyone else in the room.

There is a choice of colors, too.

For this friend there are also inexpensive but attractively designed book plates to designate the person to whose library the book belongs.

Book markers, too, are good There is one both unique and practical. Of chronium, it fastens to the cover of the book and marks the page by a little arm operating from a sturdy spring.

For fun, but useful, too, are the bookmarks made from just scraps of leather which fit snugly over the corner of the page and do not hesitate to say:

Here I fell asleep!

Yuba county contains 632 square miles.

DECORATIONS LENDS CHARM TO HOME

Besides the basic Christmas tree, Christmas celebrants will want to decorate other spots in the house.

The most beautiful Christmas decorations are the most natural.

One can order beautiful sprays of holly from Oregon, where the bush grows abundantly. The leaves are glossy green, the berries red and both sprays and wreaths are treated so they will last through the Christmas season.

A basketfull of colorful pine cones will add a festive touch to your hearth. And then, when you toss them in the flames, each one burns a different color.

The cones are treated chemically so they will burn with red, blue, yellow and green flames. The basket is made of Chinese bamboo, covered with cellophane and tied with a red satin ribbon.

Another natural Yuletide decoration is a spray of green pine needles tied onto two pine cones with a bright red ribbon. The combination takes the place of a wreath and can be placed over the mantle, in the windows or on the front door.

HOMEMAKING TOYS JUST LIKE REAL THING

Little girls will learn all about housekeeping with the latest playhouse toys. Just like mother's, the toy homemaking equipment has all the newest labor saving devices.

There are toy stoves with plastic push buttons, and playroom washing machines with the latest styles in rotary motion. Even the wringers tilt to three positions. And there is a pint sized vacuum cleaner, and an automatic dish washer which really works, complete with plastic dishes.

KNIT JUNIOR SHIRTS

Gaily patterned and colored knit shirts will be popular boys' apparel throughout the season.

Some of these shirts have rib knit necks, while others feature two way adaptable collars.

Let the child help select the toys he wants.

TOOLS ARE GOOD

Maybe dad is a draftsman or an architect or maybe junior wants to be. At any rate drawing and drafting tools will be welcomed at Christmas by either of them. They are to be found in stores for every type of draftsman.

A GOOD GIFT

A gift that carries many miles of pleasure.

SUPERVISORS EARMARK TYLER ROAD WORK FOR 1951 CONSTRUCTION

Rejection of a bridge construction project across South Yuba river at Washington and earmarking of a two-year construction project of the Tyler road highlighted Friday's meeting of the Nevada county board of supervisors. Under the chairmanship of Henry G. Loehr, the board completed its work in one day.

The board adopted two resolutions on county road problems.

The resolutions were (1) that Edwards Crossing Bridge be removed from the federal aid secondary road system, and (2) it be supplanted in FAS by the Tyler Road project.

Ted Jain, Marysville, federal aid secondary project engineer of the California highway department met with the board to discuss possible projects by which $40,000 of federal aid secondary funds could be utilized. If it is not used before July 1, 1951 it will be taken from the county and used on a state highway, possibly within the county.

The Washington project was suggested in an effort to save this money, along with $37,000 of chapter 20 money available.

It was brought out in previous discussions that if the Washington project could not be put into execution in time to utilize the federal money, the board would approve $120,000 for realignment and grading of 9.16 miles of the Tyler road from the junction at Highway 49 to North Columbia for construction in 1951 and 1952.

The two year project would use two years of federal aid secondary funds, the county matching funds to be raised by a 15 cents roads and 15 cents bridges tax.

Lynn Kelley, Grass Valley attorney, representing a group of Floriston homeowners, as well as Preston Wright, owner of the subdivision; Sierra Pacific Power Company and the Tahoe Truckee Unified School district, explained the plight of the community as result of the only bridge giving access to the community being washed out by recent flood waters of the Truckee river.

Forty to fifty families were stranded, Kelly said, and the only exit for 21 school children is a foot bridge which was described as being in a very dangerous condition.

No other usuable road leads to the community.

The supervisors explained Floriston a privately owned project and the county owns no rights of way. No county funds could be expended on roads or bridges which were not designated for public use.

The delegation was told that when Wright opened the scbdivision, it was the agreement with the county that he would be fully responsible for maintenance.

The board agreed to contact State Senator Harold Johnson to determine if any state emergency aid was available.

The board voted $500 toward defraying expense of preparing brochures for exploitation of Camp Beale as site for Air Force Academy.

Presenting the requests were William Novak and William Briggs of Nevada City and Dave Maltman and Roy Tremoureux of Grass Valley.

CUB PACKS GREET 23 NEW BOYS

Nevada City Cub Scout Pack No. 23 met at Seaman's Lodge Thursday night of last week. Pot luck was enjoyed by 90 boys, their parents and friends.

Twenty-three cubs were inducted into the dens. Cubmaster Glade Wise conducted the bobcat candlelight ceremony.

One-year service stars were given to Paul Bergemann, Butch Tamblyn and Jack Crawford.

Each den gave a skit using radio as the theme. Den 2 received the award and also the uniform award.

Den 6 received the perfect attendance and parent attendance awards.

The group extended thanks to V. E. Pitney of the Forest Service, who ran a film on "Christmas Trees."

Glade Wise appealed for den mothers.

YULE TREES FINE TABLE CENTERPIECE

For the Christmas table, one can use a Christmas tree as the centerpiece. There is a frosty white one, 19 inches high, with bright little balls and bells.

The place mats can have a festive air, too. Available are plastic ones with holly green and red berries painted around the borders. There are mats with Christmas trees painted in the center.

Even the holiday dishes can convey the Christmas spirit. There are plates and cups with Christmas trees painted on the china, and crystal water, wine and eggnog glasses engraved with Christmas trees.

Finally, there is a little salt and pepper set. Each is a china figurine representing a little choir boy singing loudly. They are the last word in festivity for a Christmas dinner.

CARDBOARD FIGURES WILL DECORATE TREE

Christmas tree personalities can be made to hang on the tree. Paper doll angels and childhood's Jumping Jack can be cut from heavy aluminum foil. Cardboard Santas cut in star shape, reindeer, Santa's helpers, Donald Ducks and Christmas toys are effective made from cardboard and gayly colored to hang on the branches of the Christmas tree.

The California Palace of the Legion of Honor in Lincoln park at San Francisco, overlooks the Golden Gate and the Pacific ocean.

MINING COUNCIL CALLS MEETING TO FIGHT LAW CHANGE

An emergency meeting of the Western Mining Council at which plans will be laid for fighting the changes in mining law proposed by the Bureau of Land Management, Department of Interior, has been called for 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Deer Creek Inn.

The Western Mining Council, which has 10,000 members throughout the U. S. and Alaska, has gone on record as being opposed to the legislation which would boost requirements for annual mining claim assessment work from $100 to $300 and in some cases to $600 and would make other changes in mining law which the council says would be detrimental to the industry.

Miss E. G. Lane, Nevada City will serve as hostess at the meeting which will start with a turkey dinner.

Miss Lane said several chapters of the organization will be represented here and that J. Kemp-VanEe, national secretary, Auburn, and J. P. Hall, Santa Cruz, editor of the California Mining Journal will be among the speakers.

Safety and Driving Ease Point Up 1951 Chevrolet Features

Added safety, greater driving ease and fresh re-styling highspot the 1951 Chevrolet which goes on display at Mountain Chevrolet showrooms tomorrow.

Important improvements and changes are featured in both chassis and body. These changes range from the "biggest brakes in the low-price field" to extensive design innovations that make the car appear much longer and lower than any previous model.

The powerglide automatic transmission, Chevrolet's sensational driving advance, has been refined for the latest models, although remaining fundamentally the same flexible driving control that has already enrolled a quarter of a million satisfied owners. It will again be optional on de luxe models only.

Fourteen passenger body types are included in the 1951 line. Two and four-door sedans will be available in Styleline and Fleetline series. All sedans and the sport coupe will come in de luxe or special trim. A convertible coupe, all-steel station wagon and the Chevrolet Bel Air, which has scored so sensationally in popularity, are exclusively in the de luxe series. The business coupe will be available only as a model in the special series.

In addition to more luxurious interior treatment Chevrolet is offering a more beautiful and attractive assortment of colors. The options, which include two two-tone combinations, are livelier than ever.

The new "jumbo drum" brakes headline the qualities of the ca. directed toward safer operation. Quicker emergency stops are assured by a brake which involves considerable departure from past design. Every brake shoe, fitted with the long-life bonded lining made famous by Chevrolet, is self-energizing in both forward and reverse travel, giving a consistent, surge-free operation that will please drivers.

New brakes also qualify as an aid to driving ease. Tests show 25 percent less pedal pressure required in stopping at given rates of speed. Better brake seals and virtual elimination of the possibility of brake grabbing are other advantages.

Of almost equal interest among safety features are recessed control knobs in the driver's compartment. All protrusions are now set below the smooth contours of the instrument panel. Shielding of the windshield from instrument light reflections is as well provided by a rounded ledge above the panel. Subdued lighting of dials for nighttime driving is still another safety asset.

Important as it will affect parking is an increase in steering gear ratio. Other points worthy of mention under driving ease are new convenience of controls, relocated brake pedals, reduced vibration through greater torque tube rigility and a new method of propeller shaft balancing in production.

Appearance-wise the improvement is discernible even to a casual observer. Changes both at the front and the rear enhance the impression of ruggedness and room. The radiator grill has been restyled and simplified. The design now consists of three horizontal bars, the lower two extending further across the fenders to form a circular frame for parking lamps. Frontal beauty is additionally embellished by new bumper guards, emblem and hood ornament which carries a jet-craft form.

The crown of the rear fenders has been raised to increase the sleek, flowing lines of the body. Fenders now mount the combination stop and tail light, with a newly styled trunk lid ornament and re-designed bumper guards blending into the overall effect.

The de luxe and special series will again be distinctive. Exteriors of the de luxe bodies have a greater amount of chrome and stainless steel trim and are distinguishable on the highways by a moulding which starts just above the wheel opening in the front fenders and is extended into the doors.

Interiors of the de luxe bodies are treated in two-tone gray, a styling feature carried by both seat cushions and instrument panels. With the special models, the interior is also two-tone gray. A gray striped pattern cloth is used as upholstery material in the special models while de luxe models provide a band of plain gray across the top of seat back cushions upholstered in stripea gray broadcloth. In addition, de luxe models are equipped with such accessories as cigarette lighter, center-mounted clock and full-circle horn rings.

Due to expanded production, Chevrolet is able to introduce in rear seats the flat S-type springs used in the front of the 1950's. Greater comfort and more consistent resiliency will result during the long years of service owners have learned to expect from Chevrolets.

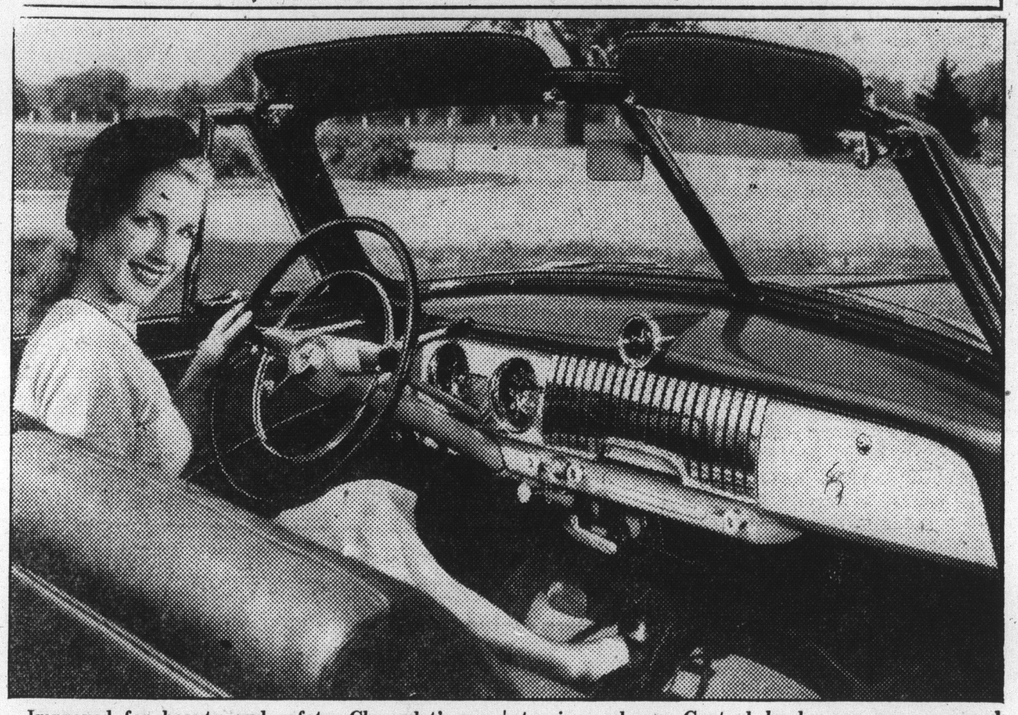
Special luxury treatments have been incorporated in convertible, Bel Air and Station Wagon. New this year to the convertible is a rear window of clear, flexible plastic offering more than three times the vision area of the former opening. Also in the convertible, the automatic top motor has been removed into the trunk forward of the spare tire as a service improvement.

Upholstery in the convertible is genuine deep-buff leather with the Bel Air featuring a striped pile-cord fabric with leather bolsters on both seat cushions and back rest. Station wagons have a new tan leatherette fabric with pigskin finish.

For 1951 Chevrolet offers two economical valve-in-head engines. The standard engine develops 92 horsepower while the optional power plant, available on de luxe models with Powerglide, develops 105 horsepower.

Essentially the power train is unchanged. A few changes that accent easier service include: elimination of the body junction block in the electrical system, made possible by the mounting of switches at the bottom of the instrument panel; a more accessible location for the rear bearing oil cup on the generator to prevent over lubrication; and improvement in the attachment on the primary terminal of the distributor, facilitating assembly of the breaker lever.

Safety, Beauty in 1951 Chevrolet Instruments



Improved for beauty and safety, Chevrolet's new instrument panel separates gauges and controls in convenient locations at the right and left of the steering column. Control knobs are now recessed under the panel. An overhanging upper crown shields nighttime illumination from the windshield.

SWEATER SETS CHOICE OF SEASON

Sweater sets will find their way to spots under many Christmas trees this year and the girls and young women who receive them as gifts are going to have presents which are at once pretty and practical.

The twin sets are a highlight of the season and they are being offered in both nylon and wool knits.

The sets usually consist of a short sleeved pullover, accompanied by a cardigan with long sleeves for the topper. They are in a variety of colors.

Some are in novelty or cable knits, others in drop stitched patterns and some in ribbed effects.

FINE GRADES OF BELTS GOOD GIFT CHOICE

Fine grades of belts, the kind men would not be likely to buy for themselves, are in local gift stocks and retailers think they will be popular items.

These belts are made of fine grades of calf, alligator and ostrich leathers. They cost more than the commoner types of belts, but they are in that luxury class which makes them extra special as gifts, and the price is not prohibitive.

Kezar stadium in San Francisco accomodates 60,000 spectators.

THESE GIFT ITEMS WILL FATTEN WIFE

Almost every little gadget which saves work around the house is dreamed up by a man. So are the big inventions, and this holiday season there are plenty of them.

You cannot have a mechanical baby sitter yet, but here is what you can have.

A refrigerator which counts up to 60 and then defrosts after the sixtieth time the door is opened.

A barbecue spit which revolves automatically in the oven. A washer which weighs each load to eliminate wasting water and soap.

A dryer which reminds you to clean the lint trap after using.

A range scaled for the small kitchen with an oven which is large enough for six pies.

How is that for this year's contributions to housewives who like to curl up with a good book and a box of chocolates?

HOSTESSES FIND USE FOR MORE GLASSES

Most hostesses could ue another set of glasses for the table, no matter how many they already have.

Complete sets of glasses, which should be in every home for holdiay entertaining, add sparkle to the table setting on festive occasions.

Various styles and designs are offered in sets which run through footed ice tea glases, goblets, high sherbets, cocktails, low sherbets and cordials.

There is a glass to contain every liquid erved by the holiday hostess and the use of the proper one on each occasion is advocated by authorities as a means of obtaining that perfection which is the goal of yuletide hospitality.

Don't Buy a Straw Hat for Santa Claus . . .

INSTEAD, GIVE HIM A REO RUNABOUT POWER LAWN MOWER — $106.25

That isn't as silly as it sounds. The idea is not that he is going to try out a new lawn mower on your shag rugs—he probably won't have any use for it for several months. But you can get a lawn mower now—and next Spring you probably won't be able to find one. When everyone wants them—they're soon sold out. So buy him a Power Lawn Mower—out of season and ahead of time—as a practical gift.

WHEELBARROWS AND LAWN CARTS

We don't know anyone who wants to cart a lawn—but many people have told us that these are very handy vehicles for working around the lawn and garden—with a lot less wear and tear on the sacroiliac. Better get one for Christmas than wonder where you can buy one in gardening time.

KEEP HIM BUSY—AND OUT OF SIGHT

Give him some tools for his basement work shop. They're always in season—and they might encourage him to build those shelves you've been wanting. (CAUTION: If he hammers his thumb—stuff cotton in your ears and tell him to hold the hammer in both hands.)

GUNS AND AMMUNITION

Sure—duck season is over—but there will be another along next year. If you think guns and ammunition are crazy Christmas gifts—just remember that a man doesn't have to be crazy to hunt ducks—but it helps.

BULBS—THE GROWING KIND, THAT IS

These are not the kind that light up the room but they will light up your yard and the face of the professional or amateur gardener. We have them in Tulips, Narcissus, Daffodils, Iris, Hyacinth, Crocuses and Jonquils.

LINGERIE IS GIFT MOST WOMEN ARE HAPPY TO RECEIVE

There probably are gifts which are more appreciated at Christmas than the feminine lingerie every woman seems happy to receive.

New styling and the use of rayon and nylon materials have brought out developments by the lingerie makers which Nevada county shop keepers feel sure will delight the hearts of local women.

Real elegance is attained in the new nylon opera slips. One four gore model has nylon lace on the front bodice and all around the skirt and features an inserted midriff, and straight back neck. Bias cut, it hangs well.

A rayon crepe slip has nylon fagoted seams. Applique accents lace on the front and there is a double row of lace on the skirt. Adjustable straps and bias cut material are features of this garment, which comes in black, pink or white.

A new shade suggesting coral and sand is shown in a multifiliament rayon crepe slip which has wide lace trims on the bodice with a large lace insert on the front of the skirt.

Another elegant material used in slips available here is combined of multifiliament rayon and nylon crepe, which give the rich texture of rayon, plus the wearing qualities of nylon. Double stitched seams feature one of the models shown in this material.

In a more modestly priced bracket are slips of French type rayon crepe, which are said to be long wearing in spite of their reasonable cost. They are available in the usual lingerie hues and white.

A run proof knit rayon petticoat is another item to interest some women. It has a sheer nylon net ruffle cotton lace trimming.

Lingerie is shown in another lovely fabric, multifilament rayon satin. This fabric is woven to give a high sleek finish on the other.

The proportioned design of the new lingerie gives it the advantage of perfect fit even under the closest fitting outer clothing.

Straight out or bias cut slips are found also in rayon fabrics. Jersey of rayon and nylon also is widely used to make the season's glamorous lingerie.

EVIDENCE CONFIRMS SIERRA LAKE EXISTED

Additional evidence that a large, fresh-water lake existed in the high Sierra, near Mohawk north of Gold Lake, some six million years ago, has been offered by Dr. Cordell Durrell, associate professor of geology on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

Studying the Blairsden quadrangle in California's Plumas county, he found new evidence which both verifies and revises original reports of lakes in the area.

On the side of the Mohawk Lake beds, which emptied into the ancient Feather river, Dr. Durrell found evidence additional to that found by Henry W. Turner U. S. Geological Survey, and J. P. Smith, Stanford University.

In 1916, Smith had placed the age of these lakes at 14 to 15 million years, while Dr. Durrell's evidence shows that the lakes existed between the volcanic era and the glacial period, from approximately six million to less than one million years ago.

Mohawk lake was formed in the shape of a "T," each arm extending over 12 miles. It was more than 1,000 feet deep. Evidence indicates that it probably connected with a larger lake, 12 miles wide and 18 miles long, on the site of the present Sierra valley.

"These lakes were formed by faulting," Dr. Durrell explains. "Land subsidences caused lake basins which rapidly filled with water. A pirate stream, eating its way back from the Feather river, eventually cut far enough to drain both Mohawk and Sierra lakes.

"This would have been the end of Mohawk lake, except for a large landslide which covered over this pirate stream forming a dam with a small lake behind it, until erosion once again cut through the slide," he adds. "The eroded lake floor now forms the beautiful meadows of Mohawk valley."

FIRE PROOFED COTTON

Fire proofed cotton is on the market for this year's Christmas decorating. The cotton, snow like in appearance, is declared to be completely non inflammable. A glittering decoration material, which also can be used for Christmas wrapping, is completely fireproof.

BUYING PIECE AT A TIME MAY AID HOME FURNISHER

The budgets of many families furnishing a new home or apartment may not permit the purchase of all the furniture at the same time.

Buying a few pieces at a time can wreck havoc with the decorative plan unless each purchase is carefully thought out.

So if you wish to stretch your money and at the same time maintain unity, by all means work out a plan for buying.

Such a plan would start with the basic pieces, such as essentials for eating, sleeping and lounging. It is a good idea to decide how much can be spent for each room. A few well chosen pieces of the right scale for the room will be more economical in the long run.

Not only does a buying plan help to visualize what the room will look like when completely furnished, it helps one to decide which is the most important.

A starting plan for a living room could include a sofa, one or more chairs, a few tables, bookshelves, lamps and pictures.

Furnishings for a dining room could start with table and a minimum of chairs, and a chest server. Other chairs, a china and buffet could be added later. Or some of the dining room chairs could be used now in the living room.

A bedroom plan could start with beds, a dresser or pair of chests, night table and one or more chairs.

With a plan for your future, you will be inspired to search through the stores until you find exactly the right chair, table, cabinet or desk for your needs.

SOCKS ARE POPULAR

Socks are the gifts every man gets on Christmas, and probably not enough of them. Wool socks, argyles, lyle and silk are always in good taste.

BICYCLES ARE IN WIDE PRICE RANGE

What boy, or girl, for that matter, would not like to receive a new bicycle for Christmas?

New models of bicycles for both boys and girls are being displayed in various sizes, ranging from the sidewalk types for the little tykes to the general utility sturdy wheels which may be ridden by adults.

Equipment and accessories in great variety for the bicycles are shown.

They have headlights, tail lights or reflectors, mud guards, chain guards, new type springing and coaster brakes, as well as package carriers and stands to hold them up when dismounted.

The new bicycles feature easy running mechanism and comfortable spring seats. They are shown in a wide price range.

The Carquinez Straits bridge at Martinez is a vertical-lift type.

ART REPRODUCTIONS APPEAR ON CARDS

Full color reproduction from the famous American artist group enrich the art of Christmas cards.

Reflecting the Christmas spirit as it was portrayed by the masters are reproductions of paintings from the National Gallery of Art.

These reproductions put such classic signatures on cards as Giotto's, Raphael's El Greco's, Corot's and Tiepolo's.

DRESSES ADAPTABLE

This holiday season a large number of dress models can be used either for day or evening wear. That is, they have sporty type jackets which cover up very bare bodices. When the jackets are removed, the dress looks like an evening gown. When it is buttoned in place, the dress is a neat, but rather tailored suit.

Twenty-Third Year, No. 50 Nevada City (Nevada County) California, Friday, December 8, 1950

COMMUNITY IN GEAR TOWARD A HAPPY HOLIDAY

Girl Scouts of Troop No. 1, of Nevada City, under the direction of their leaders, Mrs. E. L. Kyle and Mrs. William Fisher, will distribute bags of candy to children of the area as they leave the Cedar theatre Friday afternoon, Dec. 22. The children will be guests of the theatre at a 2 p.m. matinee showing the western feature "El Paso," and three comedies. Santa Claus will also be in attendance at the party.

Melton and Ralph Achey, manager of the thearte, pointed out that the show will be open to children of North San Juan, Gold Flat and the other areas adjacent to Nevada City.

The theatre party will be one of the highlights of the 1950 observance of the age old Christmas season here.

A drive to collect food for baskets for the needy this Christmas, got underway Tuesday at a meeting of representatives of organizations of the community at city hall. O. J. Melton, one of Nevada City's leading merchants, is chairman of the basket campaign.

Melton announced that receptacles have been placed in 15 of the city's grocery stores to receive food donations. Committeemen will begin collections next week, Melton said.

Pupils of Nevada City high and elementary schools are aiding the drive by bringing food to classes which will be added to the stocks.

Starting at noon on Friday, Dec. 22, volunteer workers of the participating organizations will meet at Seaman's Lodge to pack the baskets which will be distributed the following day by the Nevada City Lions club.

Mrs. Isabel Hefeflinger, Mrs. Hal Draper and Mrs. Ruby Berggren are members of a committee to determine prospective recipients of the baskets.

Melton asks that persons knowing about deserving families to notify either him or a member of the screening committee. Melton asks that the number of persons in the family and the ages of the children be furnished.

Mrs. Doris Foley is in charge of a committee to repairs toys contributed for the packages. Milton Anderson will be in charge of distributing the toys.

Christmas baskets will include a chicken, canned foods, margarine and other items to make up a full holiday dinner.

George Hansen is in charge of collecting the food and basket ingredients and requests that individuals with trucks available to assist to contact him.

TIMBER CUT DISPUTE SETTLED MONDAY

A dispute between Acton M. Cleveland, Camptonville justice of the peace, representing several residents of the Yuba community and the Dodge and Nutting lumber companies, was settled out of court Monday.

Cleveland charged the lumber companies were polluting water used by families of the Camptonville area and had complained in Yuba county superior court. Sutter County Superior Judge Arthur Coats issued a restraining order to the lumber companies on Wednesday, Nov. 22.

Last Friday, Superior Judge Warren Steele dissolved the restraining order ruling such an order could not be issued for more than ten days.

Albert L. Johnson, local attorney, and a Marysville law firm represented the lumber companies in the action.

ONLY 14 SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

JUPITER PLUVIUS IS A DETERMINED CUSS

Old Jupiter Pluvius, the rainmaker, and his side kick, Weather Recorder Fred Bush, are determined that Nevada City will have some new rainfall records.

They weren't satisfied with giving us the second wettest November in history last month with 17.93 inches of moisture. Record November was 1884 with 21.55 inches of rainfall.

Old Jupiter Pluvius and his cohort have a real record to shoot at this month. In December, 1867, 41.95 inches of rain fell in Nevada City, for an all-time record for any month.

Up to 8 a.m., yesterday, Bush had recorded 7.53 inches for the new month, not quite at sufficient rate to set a new record but it is close.

Bush reported that 32.66 inches of rain has fallen this season, compared to 4.79 the same time last year.

FIREMEN STUDY CITY BLOOD BANK

Nevada City firemen are considering a proposal to institute a blood bank here at meetings of the fire companies held this week.

Charles W. Veale, superintendent of the Nevada county hospital appeared at a meeting of the Board of Fire Delegates last week and suggested the fire department would be a suitable organization to sponsor a blood bank.

The board of fire delegates decided to get the opinion of as many members of the department as possible before taking any action on the proposal.

Veale attended fire department sessions and explained how a blood bank is established and maintained.

CHARLES J. JONES PASSES IN SOUTH

Charles John Jones, 88-year old Nevada county native, died Saturday at Los Angeles. He had been retired for several years.

Jones was born July 25, 1862, at Hunt's Hill, about six miles east of Nevada City and although he was a frequent visitor to this community he had not lived here since 1885.

He was an uncle of Tom M. Jones of Nevada City.

ACHEY DENIES THAT THEATRE WILL CLOSE

Spreading rumors that the Cedar theatre would be closed by the T. & D. Jr. Enterprise, were vehemently denied yesterday by Ralph Achey, manager of the local film palace.

The Cedar was opened just a year ago tomorrow—Dec. 9, 1949, and has not enjoyed good attendance during the past year.

Enjoying excellent physical facilities, the theatre manager did not think a policy of showing films immediately following the showing in Grass Valley's theatre was a contributing factor to the lack of patronage.

Achey said that if Nevada City film fans would wait until the pictures showed here, there probably would be no attendance deficits.

LORIN CLAUGH, 61, DIES IN HOSPITAL

Lorin Claugh, resident of Nevada county for the past 15 years, died Tuesday morning at the Nevada county hospital, following a prolonged illness.

Claugh was a native of New York state. His age was 61 years. Most of his residency in this county was spent in Nevada City.

He leaves no known relatives.

Graveside services were held at Greenwood cemetery Wednesday under the auspices of Myers Grass Valley Mortuary.

DOMINOES

Four cars were slightly damaged Wednesday afternoon near Town Talk after Ralph Stillwell, Cedar Ridge, made a sudden stop to avoid a crowding oncoming car and cars driven by Frances Comstock, Nevada City, and John Kootstra and Graydon Beechel of Grass Valley were unable stop behind the Stillwell car and struck each other like a row of dominoes.

FAILURE TO VOTE WIPES 2043 OFF REGISTRY LISTS

A total of 2043 registered voters were canceled from the Nevada county great register for failure to vote at either the June primary election of the November general election this year, according to an announcement by County Clerk Ralph E. Deeble.

Notices are being typed and being mailed to each voter canceled at the address given on the registration affidavit, Deeble declared. The notice advises a voter he will be required to re-register before he will be eligible to vote in any future Nevada county election.

The official notice of cancellation also informs the voter that if he or she is a member of the armed forces of the United States or any auxiliary branch of the armed forces, employed by the American Red Cross and serving outside the territorial limits of the United States, employed as an officer or member of the crew of a merchant vessel documented under the laws of the United States and serving outside the territorial limits of the United States and the voter or a friend by affadavit has notified the county clerk of that fact within 60 days after the date of mailing the notice he or she shall have his registration restored to the active file and shall remain permanent unless cancelled for any other cause.

$242,984 IN TAXES PAID FINAL DAY

The Nevada county tax collector's office banked $242,984.99 received on the final day before county taxes became delinquent, according to an announcement by Miss Elma Hecker, tax collector.

Miss Hecker said Tuesday's collections brought the total taxes received since Dec. 1 to $426,596.60.

She pointed out the total does not include tax payments which came into the office by mail Wednesday and have not been tabulated nor does it include tax collections in November.

County taxes unpaid at 5 p. m. Tuesday became delinquent and will be subject to penalty, she added.

CRACKDOWN

A crackdown order on speeders within the city limits was issued yesterday by Police Chief J. J. Jackson, following several complaints by residents of Zion and Sacramento streets. Jackson also warned that too many lumber trucks have driven too fast past the local high school, and he has issued orders to his force to cite violators.

HENRY MCCLOUD NAMED IOOF NOBLE GRAND

Henry McCloud was elected Noble Grand of Oustomah Lodge of Independent Order of Odd Fellows at a roll call meeting and election held Tuesday night in the Odd Fellows hall. He succeeds Ed Cotters.

Others officers elected include James Rozynski, vice grand; Jonathan Pascoe, recording secretary; John Dart, financial secretary, and Joseph Day, treasurer.

Meeting and election was preceded by a dinner prepared under direction of Michael Cartoscelli.

Ralph Childers projected motion pictures and Martin Dalpez presented several accordion selections.

WAVE OF BURGLARIES HITS NEVADA COUNTY

Deputy Sheriff Percy Watters is investigating break-ins at three western Nevada county business houses which netted burglars $5,500 and some tools.

Miller's Market, on the Auburn Highway south of Grass Valley, was entered over the week end and a safe containing about $3500 in cash and about $2000 in checks was carried off.

Tools were taken frome the Cunningham Sawmill at LeBarr Meadows and although the Sierra Truck and Motor Company on South Auburn street was entered nothing was reported stolen there.

MENTAL HEALTH TALK AT DEWITT MONDAY

Nevada county residents interested in the organization of a county mental health society patterned after one organized in Placer county are invited to attend a meeting of the Placer society in the DeWitt hospital recreation room Monday night.

Mental health authorities from Sacramento will be present and discussion will be based on "The Middle Years and Onward".

COUNTY HORSEMEN ELECTION TONIGHT

Nevada County Horsemen will hold an election of officers tonight, at 8 o'clock at the Forest Springs Farm Center, south of Grass Valley.

I. L. Nicholson, Chicago Park, was awarded $150 damages from C. W. Smith, also of Chicago Park, as result of an alleged unprovoked assault in Colfax Aug. 22, 1949. Nicholson sought $15,399 in damages in Nevada county superior court.

COUNCIL DELAYS DECISION ON PARK LIGHTING

Plans to light the Pioneer park athletic field hit a snag last night when the city council was advised in a letter from Congressman Clair Engle that the National Production Authority had put a $5,000 limitation on such projects.

The approved amount is approximately $3,000 below the estimated $8,000 needed for the project to be financed jointly by the city and school district.

Meanwhile three bidders—the Incandescent Supply Company, General Electric and Westinghouse—submitted bids to supply the lights and wire. The bids included complex alternate plans and the council made no effort to determine which was low bidder.

One bidder offered a plan whereby adequate lights could be supplied for the $5,000 limited amount to light the softball field. The illumination, however, would not be adequate for football or baseball.

The council voted to reconsider the matter at a meeting next Thursday night and notify the three bidders of the decision reached.

A gift of $100 was voted to the chamber of commerce to aid in the planned Christmas program of delivering Yule baskets to the needy, street music, street lighting, and the appearance of Santa Claus.

GV NC SHARE OF REGIONAL DRIVE FOR BEALE ENDED

Ralph Mitchell and Garlan Epley, the latter formerly of Grass Valley, have been named co-chairmen of a Marysville Chamber of Commerce effort to raise $5000 to back the regions drive to activate Camp Beale.

The drive, according to Frank Booth, Jr. president of the Marysville District Chamber of Commerce will be carried into Butte, Yuba, Sutter and Nevada counties.

However the drive is competed in Nevada county, with the recent solicitations by the Grass Valley and Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, and help of the Nevada county board of supervisors and volunteer workers.

The goal of $1500, which had been set for the communities of Grass Valley and Nevada City has been attained in preparing brochures and information for study and review by the Air Force selection board, which will inspect Camp Beale next Tuesday.

DEBRIS CLOGS DITCH SPILLWAY

Nevada Irrigation District officials stated the Excelsior ditch diversion dam on the Yuba, north west of Nevada City had not been washed out by recent storms.

Charles Law, senior engineer for the district, explained that it was not a storage dam, being used only to divert water into the Excelsior Ditch.

Even should itb reak, Law said there would be no reason for alarm.

Law said that the flood waters a week ago had brought down a large amount of gravel, boulders and debris, rendering the dam ineffective and filling the spillway.

Water service will be maintained by the China and Deer Creek ditches, Law said.

Law added that flood waters of the first storm washed out 200 feet of new flume at the head of the canal.

BUD KYLE BUYS GLISAN FROZEN FOOD LOCKER

E. L. (Bud) Kyle, county wholesale and retail meat dealer, purchased the Glisan Cold Storage Locker Plant in Grass Valley Saturday in one of the largest local business transactions of recent months.

The cold storage plant located at the rear of the bus depot in Grass Valley has been owned and operated by Thomas L. Glisan of Grass Valley. Glisan will continue his affiliation with the operation.

Kyle announced storage locker and deep freeze services of the past will be continued.

AN EDITORIAL BOUQUET

The Nugget's bouquet of the week goes to Supervisor Guy N. Robinson, freshman member of the county board, who demonstrated at the last meeting that he possesses a remarkable amount of open mindedness and firmness coupled with a high degree of mental flexibility — all praiseworthy qualifications for any officeholder.

When a vote was taken by the board as to contributing $500 to a fund to promote the possible location of the Air Force Academy at Camp Beale, Supervisor Robinson firmly voted "No."

Asked to explain his stand Robinson said several of his constituents had told him a Marysville speaker at a recent luncheon meeting had said money was needed to "wine and dine the high army brass."

Under such circumstances, Robinson said he was voting "No."

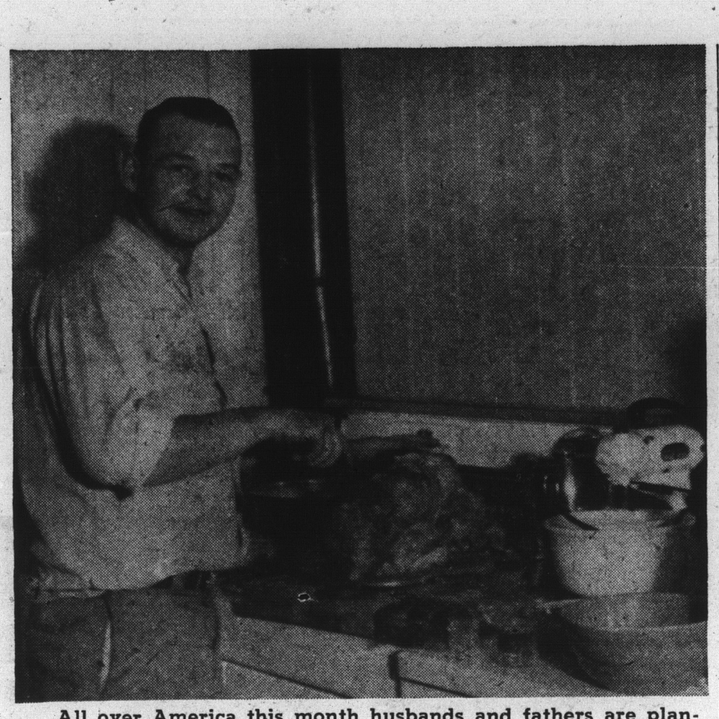
It was quickly explained that the money was to be used for the publication of surveys and reports and that none of the money would be used for entertainment. Robinson said he was satisfied with the explanation.

On the next vote he cast a "Yes" ballot.

His change cannot conceivably be interpreted as a yielding to pressure, but rather an open minded performance which can be taken as an indication that Robinson will not be a stubborn and inflexible official but rather one who is open to conviction.

Our congratulation to an official who can change his vote when he has been presented with new and convincing evidence.—at.

The force of an ideal is greater than the ideal of force. —Josephus Daniels.



All over America this month husbands and fathers are planning for a happy Christmas for their families, and preparing to carve the traditional fowl for the yuletide feast. But few families are as fortunate as the E. L. Kyle family of 308 Park avenue, in having a professional meat cutter as husband and father, who can so professionally carve the festive bird. Pictured above is "Bud" Kyle, who in addition to many years as a meat cutter and butcher, served his nation in the Pacific battle zone, as a cook on board a U. S. Navy ship during World War II.

POSTMASTER WASLEY RECOMMENDS THREE CENTS CARD POSTAGE

Three cent stamps on Christmas card mailings are being urged this year by the post office department. Postmaster William Wasley points out the advantage in the following statement to local patrons:

"When mailing Christmas cards this year, why don't you place a three-cent stamp on each one that you mail at this postoffice. That makes it a first-class letter on which you may place your return address, and even enclose a letter or note with the card.

"Your card then can be forwarded to any postoffice or, if it cannot be delivered to the addressee, it will be returned to the sender. Don't you think this would be the wise thing to do this year?

STATE SUPPORT OF COUNTY SCHOOLS NEAR HALF MILLION MARK

Public elementary and high school districts in Nevada county will receive $448,435 in direct state support this year, California Taxpayers' association said.

State support of the two public school levels in the county this year includes $339,790 for elementary school districts and $108,645, for high schools.

It is based on 2,399 average daily attendance for the elementary schools and 722 for the high school districts in the county.

Throughout California, state support of public schools is budgeted at $230,262,545 for 1950-51. This includes $210,580,600 for support of public elementary and high schools and junior college districts, $335,097 for vocational education, $16,650,000 for the state teachers retirement system, and $2,696,848 for free textbooks. These figures do not include state support of child care centers or funds for construction from the $250,000,000 state school loan fund.

In addition to state support, public school districts also collect relatively large sums in property taxes. Statewide property tax levy for 1949-50 for schools reached $292,183,623, the association pointed out. Statewide data for 1950-51 are not yet available.

Average daily attendance base for the 1950-51 state apportionment to public elementary and high school districts in California is 1,623,890 and includes 1,203,342 elementary and 420,548 high school average daily attendance.

"California's support of public schools is very generous," the Taxpayers' association said.

1951 CHEVROLET LINE OF TRUCKS ON DISPLAY LOCALLY TOMORROW

New 1951 Chevrolet trucks go on display at Mountain Chevrolet showrooms tomorrow.

Offering a wide variety of sizes and designed for jobs ranging from fast metropolitan delivery service to rugged cross-country hauls, the new models list many advances over the previous series.

Comfort benefits by better cab ventilation and new seat construction. Safety profits by newly developed brakes. Increased durability has been engineered into the chassis through a number of improvements which extend throughout the line.

In its 1951 models Chevrolet will make available trucks in 10 wheelbases, including the 179-inch chassis added late this year. Gross vehicle weight range from 4,000 to 16,000 pound. In this connection an important development is announced in higher ratings of the 4100 and 4400 series. Through changes in the front axle, springs and tire sizes, the maximum gross vehicle weight has been raised from 12,500 to 14,000 pound. Minimum GVW of the series 6100 to 6400 has likewise been upped to 14,000 pounds.

Braking improvement is noteworthy on light and heavy duty trucks. While the hydraulic principle has been retained, the design of light truck brakes in entirely new. In addition to more braking surface, the brakes are self-energizing. Less pedal pressure is required for stop. Lining are bonded to the shoes, eliminating the need for rivets.

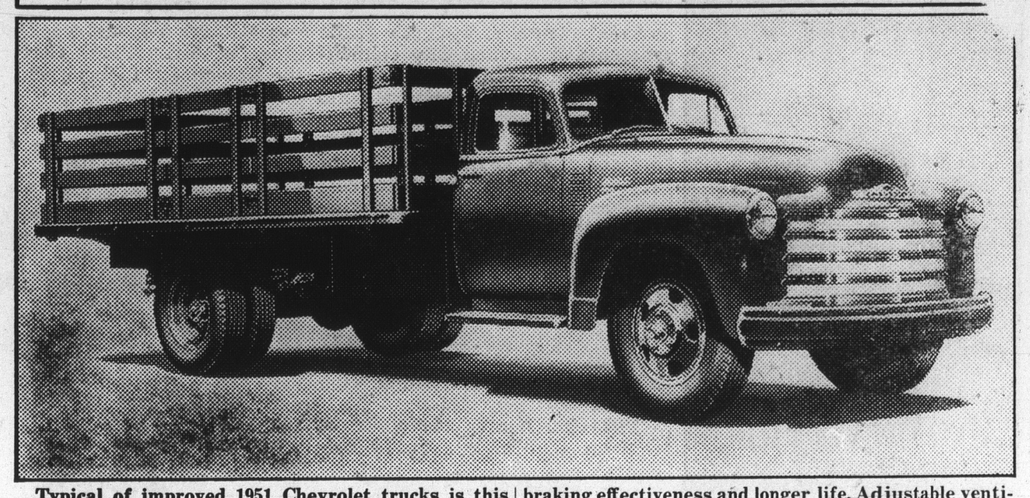
Heavy-duty trucks now have "twin-action" rear brakes, a design that assures greater braking effectiveness and self-energization of both shoes whether traveling forward or backward. Each brake is equipped with two cylinders and two shoes. Better sealing against grit and mud, simple adjustment and longer life are present in all brakes.

On both long and short trips drivers will find the 1951 Chevrolet cabs appreciably more comfortable. All cab models and the Suburban Carryall have new seats of simpler and more durable construction. The seat assembly carries two layers of springs. With different stiffnesses, frequencies of one layer tend to offset the other, thereby reducing vibration.

Cab side windows introduce adjustable ventipanes, a comfort feature which will be appreciated by truck operators.

As a year ago Chevrolet will make available two engines of the economical valve-in-head design. They are the Loadmaster of 105 horsepower and the Thriftmaster which develops 92 horsepower.

Chevrolet Trucks Reveal 1951 Advances



Typical of improved 1951 Chevrolet trucks is this heavy-duty stake model (Series 6409). Newly designed "Twin-Action" brakes on rear wheels assure increased braking effectiveness and longer life. Adjustable ventipanes for better ventilation and a new spring seat construction are among other high spots.

CAROLERS ENTERTAIN HISTORICAL SOCIETY AT MONDAY MEETING

The Nevada City Historical Society met Monday evening at Wesley Hall of the Grass Valley Methodist church.

President Isabel Hefelfinger first presented Harold George and the well known carol singers who entertained the members and their friends with singing three Christmas carols. They closed the program with their theme song, "Diadem". Mrs. Camille Cornish of Grass Valley was the pianist.

George then gave a short history of the carol singers stating that when gold was discovered in Grass Valley few people living here then, understood quartz mining. Therefore the Cornish people were induced to come to this vicinity. While at work or at play these people sang the folk songs they used in Cornwall. They spent 31 Christmases in their new homes before a coral group was organized.

They are now the oldest singing group in the West as they have been making public appearances for nearly 60 years. They meet only at Christmas time starting rehearsals in November in the Grass Valley Methodist church.

They are scheduled to appear at DeWitt hospital, Colfax, San Jose, San Francisco and Oakland, Sacramento, Petaluma and Ukiah and have often appeared on the National Broadcasting Network for Christmas day and the short wave has made it possible for them to have been heard all over the world.

Many members have been singing with this group for nearly 50 years and others are only eight years old. This singing group has brought the name of Grass Valley and the adjoining town, Nevada City, before the whole world.

Robert Paine, director of the nominating committee then advised the members who the board of directors will be for the year 1951.

Rough and Ready will be represented by Mrs. Wilda Steuber, from Nevada City will be Al Trivelpiéce and George Calahan and John Tremewan from Grass Valley. This group will decide on the president and secretary for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Forstner Installed to Lead Evangeline Chapter, OES

The 78th installation of officers of Evangeline chapter No. 9, Order of the Eastern Star was well attended Tuesday night at the aMsonic temple, in Nevada City.

Fans—the 1951 symbol of the Worthy Matron's association of Order of the Eastern Star, were used lavishly in the chapter room decoration. Newly installed officers carried small fans of pleated green tafetta.

Mr. and Mrs. Club Yule Dance Tomorrow Night

Decorations will be in Christmas motif for the Mr. and Mrs. Dance Club's "Formal Frolic" which will be held at Elks Building Grass Valley tomorrow night.

Mac and Julie Weaver, committee chairmen for the evening and the committee personnel have developed a decorative schedule which will follow the dancers and their guests from front door to banquet room.

A lighted and decorated Christmas tree located in the foyer of the building, will first highlight the holiday motif. Twin Christmas trees will stand in the orchestra pit, only partially shielding Jerry Austin and his bandsmen. No decorations will mark the hall proper, because of the recent renovations.

But in the banquet hall downstairs where the members will gather at midnight for supper and announcements, decorations will be more elaborate. Tables will be decorated in candles, probably red with silvered pine cones and fir greenery lending background.

Club president, Don Hutton, will preside at the midnight meeting where business and announcements are offered on an informal basis.

Dancing for Saturday's party will commence at 9:30 p. m.

Separates Are Quick-Change Artists

This trimly tailored shirt has convertible neckline and French cuffs with pearl cufflinks. Pearl buttons march down the front to match the cufflinks.

Accessories Change Their Character

NEW YORK—Since separates are an important part of fall fashions, the choice of a blouse counts. A blouse should be able to team nicely with more than one suit or skirt in any wardrobe. It should undergo a subtle change in appearance with each switch in jewelry, scarves, or ribbon.

One blouse which meets all requirements is a faultlessly tailored shirt with convertible neckline which acts as a foil for scarves or jewelry. The pearl cufflinks set into the French cuffs match the buttons which march down the front.

Another blouse which fills the bill has a Peter Pan collar. Tailored in sanforized broadcloth, with ocean pearl buttons, it's a classic style which will outlast extreme trends. The neckline will take a pearl choker, a pendant, or a bit of velvet ribbon and a jewel.

With each new piece of jewelry, this shirt will change character.

A classic shirt with Peter Pan collar is styled in sanforized broadcloth. Short, simple sleeves give it a youthful air, make it ideal for classroom wear.

WEIGHTY TOPICS UNDER DISCUSSION

This pensive young gentleman is giving some after-school coaching to one of his classmates. Modern philosophy or some weightier topic might be the subject under discussion, judging from his solemn expression. The flirtatious little miss is taking it all with a grain of salt, however. She is more interested in his neat, man-about-town cotton suit. With it, he wears a polka dot cotton shirt that is the masculine equivalent of her own western style cotton blouse. Both of the cotton school ensembles were designed by Johnston of Dallas.

The 500,000th Buick for 1950

Ivan L. Wiles (right) Buick general manager and Edward T. Ragsdale (left) general manufacturing manager, guiding the body for the 500,000th Buick built this year onto the chassis at the plant in Flint. Production of the 500,000th car not only fulfilled the goal set a year ago by Wiles, but made Buick the second General Motors Division to join that tight little circle of manufacturers producing a half-million cars annually.

EDUCATION MAJOR ITEM OF EXPENSE IN COST OF STATE'S GOVERNMENT

California's state and local governments spend more for education than they do for any other single function of government, California Taxpayers' association said today.

More than half a billion dollars ($518,900,647) out of the $2,158,735,336 expenditures of the state and local governments during fiscal 1949 went for education on either the state, county, city, or school district level, the association said.

Charities and corrections came second in the expenditure scale, at $453,414,633 during the fiscal 1949. If to this is added the $271,868,634 paid out for unemployment and disability compensation in California, payments for the care of people topped even the half million dollar expenditure for education.

Money for highways, bridges, roads and streets spent during fiscal 1949 topped a quarter of a billion, $256,187,479.

Next was the $234,000,898 spent for protection to persons and property.

General government expenditures reached $179,215,348. Health and sanitation, $65,114,905; debt service, $65,587,804; recreation, $43,203,725; and miscellaneous items, $71,241,263.

Last war year, fiscal 1945, the people of California spent only $763,258,702 for all these functions of Government, the association said. Of this, $232,986,322 was for education, $163,593,264 for charities and corrections, $20,068,433 for unemployment compensation, $67,419,022 for highways, etc., $108,122,824 for protection to persons and property, $57,127,673 for general government, $45,411,441 for debt service, $28,094,535 for health and sanitation, $15,977,335 for recreation, and $24,457,853 for miscellaneous items.

"Perhaps in these figures are the clues to where government spending in California may be reduced," the Taxpayers' association said.

COST OF CALIFORNIA GOVERNMENT ENTERS BILLION DOLLARS

When all of the outstanding bills are paid, the cost of California's state government for 1949-50 will be approximately $1,049,993,161 according to State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel.

This compares to $886,526,970 for last year, and to $73,796,621 twenty-five years ago when the population was only 4,750,000.

Total government costs for the year amounted to $1,035,993,161, but Kuchel estimated that another $14,000,000 will be needed to pay the outstanding bills for the period which were not filed in his office prior to the last day of June.

The total cash expended during the 12 months amounted to $1,050,602,465 but this figure included disbursements of $14,609,304 for debts incurred during the 1948-49 fiscal year.

Net consolidated revenues for all cost funds of the state for the 1949-50 fiscal year amounted to $839,172,144 or $51,509,782 more than the preceding year, Kuchel said.

While expenditures exceeded revenues by over $211 million, the controller pointed out that $172,128,471 came from accumulated reserves for the postwar unified construction program for state buildings, local public works, and the interest and redemption requirements for certain state bonds. Excluding expenditures from reserve funds, governmental costs exceeded revenues by approximately five percent.

Apportionments to local governmental agencies amounted to $492,445,355, or approximately 47 percent of all expenditures. State operations accounted for $331,116,637, and the remaining $227,040,473 went for capital outlay.

Educational purposes accounted for $23,249,296, or over 47 percent of the allocations made to local agencies during the year. Other purposes for which allocations were made are as follows: Shared revenues, $131,722,746; social welfare and public health grants, $91,309,971; public works, $31,279,279; and for all other purposes, $4,884,063.

The general fund provided the greatest percentage of the money expended with $580,637,024 coming from that source. Special funds furnished $297,836,970, and $172,128,471 came from reserve funds, according to Kuchel's report.

Kuchel reported an unexpended balance in the reserve funds amounting to $299,239,844 as of June 30, 1950. These funds were accumulated during prior periods and reserved for special purposes such as the postwar construction program and the local public works program.

The "Cost of State Government" report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1950, which was just released by the state controller, includes expenditures from all governmental cost funds of the state and all other funds from which disbursements are made for costs of general state functions. It does not include disbursements made from trust funds deposited in the state treasury nor funds received from the federal government.

Chaney said the trees will go on sale in the vacant lot between Alpha Hardware and The Hut.

The trees will be on sale throughout the week.

The Columbia breed of sheep was developed and introduced by the U. S. department of agriculture to fill a definite need for a medium - wooled, whitefaced sheep that would thrive on western ranges.

FOREST RANGERS REPORT ON RECENT ANTLERESS DEER HUNT

U. S. Forest Rangers who patrolled the area included in the recent special hunt for antlerless deer in Modoc county report many interesting reactions from the hunters who were successful in drawing permits. The rangers' conclusions are that the participants enjoyed the hunt; they secured some excellent meat in weather conducive to its best curing and keeping; and the deer harvested were actually surplus and in excess of the carrying capacity of the winter range.

On an average there was a high degree of sportsmanship. The hunters were of all age groups. Many were with their wives and usually well equipped for camping out. Typically they were not tyros, but were pretty much a cross-section of the hunting public. They included many ex-G. I.'s who had been deer hunting a number of times, had seen hundreds or even thousands of does and fawns, had seen but few bucks and had fewer shots. All appreciated the opportunity to shoot one of the animals that had appeared so abundant to them in an area where the deer exceed the capacity of the range.

Many hunters had grown up in states where the removal of surplus females was a recognized part of deer management. To some, of course, it was "meat hunting" but to most it was legitimate sport. For the first few hours after the opening, they were mostly standing still but in that open country there were few opportunities for shots under 125 yards. After the first day most of the deer grew wilder and shooting grew more difficult, usually at moving targets from 150 to 250 yards distant.

Some hunters commented that the deer were not standing still like they were told they would be. During the first afternoon and on succeeding days, many hunters were unable to even sight deer and repeatedly inquired of forest officers where they might be found. The success ratio was high (over 93 percent), which was as it should be since there were several thousand deer in the area. Bucks were scarce in this special hunt area, since few joined in the early migration. Normal buck-doe distribution doesn't develop in this area until the onset of the rut in late November and early December.

The deer arrived from the summer range in Oregon in only fair condition. Many hunters commented on the sad condition of the range upon which this herd will winter. Much of the bitterbrush is dying or dead and junipers are browsed as high as deer can reach; grass is abundant but little value to deer, especially when covered with snow later in the winter.

According to the State Division of Fish and Game, 1509 of the 1800 successful applicants secured deer tags by the payment of the $5 fee. Of these 1412 checked in for the shoot and took 112 deer. Some fawns were taken but these formed less than 15 percent of the total kill. Many of these weighed over 50 pounds, as large as some blacktailed forked horns. The heaviest doe weighed in at 147 pounds.

In opposition to the attitude of those participating in the hunt, several people were critical of the hunters killing off what the critics consider the "breeding stock." Many sportsmen do not yet accept the removal of antlerless deer as good sportsmanship or good deer management. Forest officers, however, point out that studies over the past eight years have shown the average annual loss from natural causes in this herd to be over 6000 animals. Those removed by hunters under the buck law probably do not exceed 1000 per year. It is on the basis of this low harvest and the bad condition of the winter range that the recommendation was made to the Fish and Game commission to keep the size of this herd down to the capacity of the winter range in order to maintain the winter range and insure the survival of the deer herd.
